

Cable rates are outrageous, are raised at the whim of providers, and are practically inescapable. If creating custom channel lineups with caps on the per-channel costs would mean reduced monthly subscription rates to consumers, anything you can do to decrease those costs is appreciated.